CLASS COMMITTEE.

CHARLES EDWIN STRATTON, Class Secretary.
JOHN DAVIS WILLIAMS.
JOHN MARSHALL WHITTEMORE, Jr.

The Secretary's address is 27 Tremont Row, Boston, Mass.

BOSTON:
PRINTED BY RAND, AVERY, & CO.,
NO. 3, CORNHILL.

Classmates : —

In the first place, let me thank you for the compliment you have paid me in choosing me Class Secretary. I trust, however, you will join me in congratulating Farlow, for he rests from his labors. I know that you will join me in thanking him for the faithful and efficient work he has done for the Class, and in wishing him in foreign climes that peace and comfort which a class secretaryship, with all its glittering emoluments, can never give.

Next, I would thank those who answered my circular, ninety-seven in number, including ten who did not graduate with us, all of the graduates but sixteen, and all of the latter who are in the United States but ten. To those ten I would say, more in sorrow than in anger, that they really do not know how little trouble it would have cost them to comply with the request "to fill up the blanks," and thus satisfy what I trust they do not consider indecent curiosity on the part at least of some of their classmates.

And now a word on that ever fresh and attractive subject, — the Class Fund. As has been stated elsewhere, the whole Class has contributed to the Fund, with the exception of a few, of whom the greater number will soon be added to the list of contributors. Let each give now according to his means, however small, and ever after he will have an equal right with the largest contributor to the benefits of the Fund. And I would say here, that an examination of the subscription-book shows, that those who have not contributed, and do not intend to contribute, can be classed, not under the head of "the rich" nor of "the poor," but under the head of those who have no interest in the Class and who ask nothing from the Fund.

Finally, this report will have accomplished its purpose, if it shall bring up to any of you a kindly thought for our old University, and for the pleasant days at Cambridge, "the days that can never return."

CHARLES E. STRATTON.

27 Tremont Row, Boston, June 19, 1872.

RECORD OF THE CLASS.

JUNE, 1869, TO JUNE, 1872.

SAMUEL APPLETON BROWNE ABBOTT. Born 1846.

He continues to practise law at No. 42, Court Street, Boston. In 1869 he went to Europe with his wife for the benefit of her health. As it received no improvement by the change of climate, they returned to Boston, where she died in January, 1871.

DANIEL PUTNAM ABERCROMBIE. Born 1844.

He continued in the employ of the Chicago Lumbering Co. at Monistique, Mich., until November, 1869, when he returned home to Lunenburg, Mass. In May, 1870, he became, and he still is, secretary and book-keeper of the Miller's Falls Manufacturing Co., at Miller's Falls, Mass.

ELISHA DILLINGHAM BANGS. Born 1844.

He has lived in Boston the last three years, and continued in the banking business at No. 88, State Street. December 20, 1871, he was married at Winchester, Mass., to Georgianna, daughter of D. N. and Maria Skillings, and sister of our classmate.

BENSON BERIAH BANKER. Born 1843.

No answer was received to the circular sent him. He is in the employ of a railroad company in Toledo, Ohio.

GEORGE BATCHELOR. Born 1836.

For the last three years he has continued minister of the Independent Congregational Church (Unitarian) in Barton Square, Salem, Mass. He is secretary of the "National Conference of Unitarian and other Churches:" he has contributed sketches, over the signature "Rev. George Axford," to "Old and New," and to "The New York Independent." December 10, 1869, his second child, Mary Axford, was born.

GEORGE CONWAY BENT. Born 1844.

He has remained for the last three years in the employ of the Pennsylvania Steel Co., near Harrisburg, Pa., engaged in steel-making by the Bessemer process.

WILLIAM BLAIKIE. Born 1843.

In the summer of 1869, he accompanied the Harvard "four" to England, and remained with them till their return. From September, 1869, till November, 1870, he was chief of the Pardon Bureau in the office of the Attorney-General of the United States, at Washington. From November, 1870, till now, he has been an assistant United States Attorney for the Southern District of New York. He was admitted to practice in the courts of Massachusetts, September 16, 1869, and in those of New York, November, 1870. He expects to be married on the third of next July, to Isabella Stewart Briggs, daughter of Julia A. Briggs of Harrisburg, Pa., and of the late John Hanna Briggs.

HENRY GORHAM BLAIR. Born 1843.

No answer was received to the circular sent him. He has been in the real-estate business in Omaha, Nebraska.

WILLIAM PAYNE BLAKE. Born 1846.

He was admitted to the bar September 14, 1869, at Boston, where he has since practised law with his father, under the firm name of E. and W. P. Blake.

HENRY THATCHER BOUTWELL. Born 1844.

No answer was received to the circular sent him. He is studying medicine in Berlin, Prussia.

HOLDER BORDEN BOWEN. Born 1844.

No reply was received from him to the secretary's letter. He is in business in Providence, R.I., with Borden & Bowen, the firm of his late father. He spent last summer in Europe.

JOHN DOMINIS BREWER. Born 1845.

No answer was received to the circular sent him. When last heard from, he was still at Honolulu, Sandwich Islands.

* JOSEPH EMMONS BRIGGS. Born in Dighton, Mass., April 6, 1842. Died in Burlington, Iowa, May 4, 1867.

CHARLES BROOKS BRIGHAM. Born 1845.

He was admitted to practise medicine in March, 1870, by the Harvard Medical School, and has been studying and practising his profession since that time in Europe. In August, 1870, he was chosen surgeon-in-chief of the "Ambulance Internationale Française de l'École Forestière de Nancy;" which position he held during the whole seven months of the war, having had under his care over five hundred patients. Of over one thousand operations, the most remarkable were a successful disarticulation at the shoulder-joint in a phthisical patient; an extensive rhinoplastic operation of the face, by which a part of the nose and the entire upper lip were remade by flaps from the cheeks; and an amputation of the fore-arm, entirely healed by first intention in five days. On leaving Nancy in March, 1871, he received a letter of thanks from the mayor of the city, in behalf of the citizens. He has been presented with the bronze cross of the "Internationale Society," and with a diploma for exceptional services during the war, and has been proposed for the decoration of the "Legion of Honor," and for that of the "Iron Cross" of Prussia. In the summer of 1871 he staid with our classmate Welles, at Dieppe, France. He is about publishing at Paris a small collection of surgical cases, under the title of "Quelques Observations Chirurgicales, avec des Reflêxions." He will probably be in Boston next October.

NATHANIEL FRANCIS BRIGHT. Born 1844.

For the last three years he has lived in Cambridge, Mass., and been a book-keeper in Boston. He is now in the employ of Mr. George Osgood, hatter, at No. 183, Washington Street, Boston.

FREDERICK JOHN BROWN. Born 1846.

He was admitted to the bar in May, 1870, and since then he has been practising law in Baltimore.

HENRY FOSTER BUSWELL. Born 1842.

He was admitted to the bar December 14, 1870, at Boston, where he is now practising law at No. 27, Court Street.

EDWARD AUGUSTUS CAPEN. Born 1844.

He has continued to live in Boston until March of this year, when he purchased a house at Wollaston Heights, Quincy, Mass. He was a clerk for Messrs. C. F. Parker & Co. of Boston, dealers in boots and shoes, until April, 1870. In June of that year he engaged in the leather business in Boston, under the style of Perkins & Capen, which is now changed to that of E. A. Capen & Co. May 9, 1871, he was married to Ellen Marion, daughter of Edward F. and Ellen Frances Thomas, of Galesburg, Ill.

* FRANCIS AUGUSTUS CARPENTER. Born in Foxboro', Mass., May 26, 1843. Died in Foxboro', December 7, 1867.

ALBERTSON CASE. Born 1843.

He has continued the practice of the law in Southold, Suffolk Co., New York.

ALBION CATE. Born 1845.

He has spent the last three years in Chicago. In January, 1870, at Springfield, Ill., he was admitted to the bar, and he is now practising law in Chicago.

GEORGE FREDERICK CHACE. Born 1845.

He has spent the last three years in Wolfboro', N.H., in Johnstown, N.Y., and in Holbrook, formerly a part of Randolph, Mass., teaching, and studying modern languages. He now has charge of the High School of Holbrook. February 24, 1870, at Chatham, Mass., he was married to Patia A., daughter of Patia H. and the late Capt. Enoch H. Howes. Aug. 26, 1871, at Chatham, a daughter, Blanche Rosamond, was born.

EDWARD HENRY CLARK. Born 1843.

No answer was received to the circular sent him. The Secretary has been told, that he is now (June, 1872,) preparing for admission to the bar at New York City.

* JOHN CLARK was born in Boston, August 1, 1844, and died at Cambridge, Mass., July 22, 1870. Soon after graduating he entered the employ of Messrs. Hurd & Houghton of the Riverside Press, Cambridge, where, until within a few days of his death, he worked faithfully and efficiently, and to the satisfaction of his employers. His leisure hours were devoted to genealogical and similar studies; of his "Record of the Descendants of Hugh Clark," the "Register" of the Massachusetts Historical and Genealogical Society, of which he was a member, says, "This work, in accuracy, style, and completeness, is not surpassed by any now before the public. Another interest attaches it to us, and to posterity, and that is, that the book is the production of a young man before he reached the twenty-second year of his age. What might have been expected of him, had he lived the full measure of his years?" At the time of his death he was preparing a volume on pseudonymous American writers. He died of the disease of the kidneys.

At a meeting of the Class, held at Boston, July 26, 1870, the following resolutions were adopted: —

"Resolved, That we have learned with sorrow of the sudden death of our classmate, John Clark.

"Resolved, That in mourning the loss of one who so heartily disliked ostentation, we cannot speak otherwise than simply and sincerely.

"Resolved, That with pleasure we recall and dwell upon the traits which marked the character of our deceased friend, and won the respect of all who knew him, — his accuracy, manifested particularly in the success of his genealogical studies; his stern integrity; his unswerving conscientiousness; his simple sincerity of speech and life.

"Resolved, That while we tender our sympathy to the family and friends of our classmate, we cannot but feel with them, that our loss is his great gain.

"Resolved, That these resolutions be published in 'The Daily Advertiser' and 'Journal,' and a copy sent to the family of the deceased."

THEODORE MINOT CLARK. Born 1845.

He ceased school-teaching in June, 1869, since which time he has studied and practised architecture in New York City until February, 1872, and since then with Messrs. Peabody (H. U. 1866) & Stearns in Boston. He is living in Waltham, Mass.

JOHN HENRY COPPENHAGEN. Born 1842.

His address being unknown to the Secretary, no circular was sent him. A part of the last three years he was book-keeper for Messrs. Abram French & Co. of Boston, crockery dealers. In February, 1872, he sailed for Europe, where he doubtless is at the present time.

FREDERIC CROWNINSHIELD. Born 1845.

The last three years he has spent in Europe, a greater part of the time in Rome, painting. He has studied landscape-painting in water-colors at London and at Paris, and in oils at Rome with Bénouville, French Academician. He is now a member of the École des Beaux Arts, Paris, where he is studying the figure. April 7, 1870, at Rome, his second child, Edward Augustus, was born.

JOHN GREEN CURTIS. Born 1844.

He has taught and practised medicine the last three years in New York. He has held successively the positions of senior assistant to the house-surgeon, and house-surgeon, in Bellevue Hospital, of Assistant Demonstrator, and of Demonstrator of Anatomy, in the College of Physicians and Surgeons. He was admitted to practice in March, 1870.

FREDERICK DABNEY. Born 1846.

He was admitted to the bar December 13, 1869, at Boston, where he has continued to live, and practise law. Since April 1, 1870, he has been an Assistant United States Attorney for the District of Massachusetts.

ALLEN DANFORTH. Born 1846.

He has remained in Helena, Montana, and has been superintendent of the mining and milling operations near that place of the National Mining and Exploring Co. of New York.

SAMUEL CARROLL DERBY. Born 1842.

He remained an assistant in Mr. Dixwell's school in Boston till January, 1870, when he became acting Professor of Rhetoric and English Literature in Antioch College, Ohio, — this department embracing also the French and German languages. In June, 1870, he was chosen Professor of the Latin Language and Literature, which position he still holds.

LEWIS SEAVER DIXON. Born 1845.

He studied medicine in the Harvard Medical School till May, 1870, when he entered the Boston City Hospital as ophthalmic interne, and remained there until May, 1871. The summer of that year he spent in Europe; and the following September he established himself at Worcester, Mass., as an oculist. He received the degree of M.D. from Harvard University, March 8, 1871.

EATON SYLVESTER DRONE. Born 1842.

He was admitted to the bar in April, 1869, in New York City, where he has continued to practise law with his classmate, Hawes.

ALEXANDER DONLEY DUNBAR. Born 1846.

Until September, 1871, he taught school in Peekskill, N.Y. He then was appointed superintendent of schools at Plainfield, N.J., which position he now holds. He writes that he is not yet married, but will be in July.

EDWARD WALDO EMERSON. Born 1844.

Having finished his studies at the Harvard Medical School, he sailed for Europe in September, 1871; and he is now studying medicine at Berlin.

GEORGE FREDERIC EMERY. Born 1845.

No answer was received to the circular sent him. He has been in business in San Francisco.

WILLIAM GILSON FARLOW. Born 1844.

He remained at the Massachusetts General Hospital, Boston, as surgical interne, till May 1, 1870, when he received from Harvard University the degree of M.D. Two months later he was appointed assistant in botany in the University, which position he has held till now. He expects to sail for Europe this month, and to study botany there for two or three years.

EDWIN FARNHAM. Born 1842.

With the exception of a short visit to Europe in 1869, he has been living the last three years in Beverly, N.J., and in Philadelphia, and practising medicine. His second child, Lydia Raguet, was born September 22, 1869. His third child and second son, Benjamin Armstrong, was born November 4, 1870. Another son, James Woodward, was born February 5, 1872.

EDWARD NICOLL FENNO. Born 1845.

He has continued the wool business at Boston, the style of the firm being now Fenno, Abbott, & Co. February 22, 1872, at Boston, he was married to Ellen Marion, daughter of the late Henry Bradlee, of Medford, Mass.

AMOS KIDDER FISKE. Born 1842.

Till September, 1869, he practised law in New York City. Then, he writes, "I left this useful vocation for the more attractive (to me) one of journalism. I entered the office of the New York Times, beginning as a local reporter, and advancing with rather unusual speed through the various grades of newspaper work, until I was just coming to the full plumage of an editorial writer, when, in October last, I had a misunderstanding with the editor-in-chief of the 'Times,' and severed my connection with that paper. The next three months I spent chiefly in contributing editorial articles to 'The World,' and then in January last accepted an editorial position on 'The Evening Mail,' which I still hold." His other work has consisted mainly of contributions to the "Annual Cyclopædia" and an occasional article in a periodical. He has lately been engaged to assist in a complete revision of the "American Cyclopædia." October 27, 1870, at Cambridge, Mass., he was married to Caroline, daughter of Joseph and Mary James Child, of C.

GEORGE AUGUSTUS FLAGG. Born 1845.

He was admitted to the bar in December, 1869, in Worcester County, Mass. He has spent the last three years in Millbury, Mass., engaged in the practice of the law and in cotton manufacturing. He was appointed trial justice in 1869. June 15, 1869, in New York City, he was married to Fanny W., daughter of Charles A. and Susan W. Jewett, of New York. March 12, 1870, a son, George, was born.

* SAMUEL QUARLES FRENCH was born in Amesbury, Mass., September 1, 1845, and died in Hornellsville, N.Y., May, 27, 1872. He was the son of Ebenezer (a graduate of Hanover College) and Mary F. Quarles French, and a grandson of Judge Samuel Quarles of Ossipee, N.H. He was educated before entering Harvard in the public schools in Boston, where he excelled as a scholar. After graduating, his health failing, he went a sea-voyage, from which he returned much better. In 1868 he had charge of the academy in Atkinson, N.H. In January, 1869, he went to Lawrence, Kan., and held the office of superintendent of the public schools, which he re-organized to the satisfaction of the public. In this work he over-exerted himself; and, having a shock of paralysis, he rested for a year. In 1871 he was associated with Judges Bailey and Banks in a land-registry office in Lawrence. This year he became deeply interested in religion, and joined the Congregational Church, and, as his mother writes, "went to work for Christ, which he did until his end with unremitting ardor." May 4, 1872, he left Lawrence for Cambridge to study for the ministry. GEORGE LAURIE OSGOOD. Born 1844.

He has just returned home from Europe, where he has spent the last four years studying and practising his profession, music. The Secretary has cut the following from the "Boston Daily Advertiser" of March 7, 1872.

"Mr. George L. Osgood, a recent graduate of Harvard College, who numbers many friends in Boston and its vicinity, has been pursuing his musical studies in Europe for several years, and now begins to see the fruit of his painstaking. He will be remembered by many who are not personally acquainted with him, as the prineipal tenor of the Harvard Glee Club during the latter part of his academic course. We reprint an editorial article upon Mr. Osgood's career from 'The American Register,' of Paris, under date of January 26: —

"'In Vienna a new American star is slowly and surely rising to celebrity, — the young tenor George L. Osgood, — where he is acquiring a reputation not only as a first-class artist, but as a composer of surprising merit. We have before us several songs of his composition: they are of the German school, simple, plaintive, and touching melodies, the accompaniments denoting profound and conscientious study, and a thorough knowledge of harmony in all its intricate phases. Mr. Osgood is from Boston, and is a gentleman who devotes himself to art from a pure love of the divine science. The Germans pronounce him to be the most perfect interpreter living of Schubert's and Robert Franz's songs. He has studied two years in Italy, is an accomplished singer of the Italian school, and is a pupil of Siebert of Berlin. His voice is said to be of an extended compass, full and clear in all the registers, perfectly equal, and competent to the arduous labors of a public singer, still more so when coupled with the surprising musical intelligence possessed by him. We have fine voices at home, both male and female, and lively musical faculties; but hitherto the young singers have not given time or thought enough to study. Mr. Osgood is setting them a worthy example, which, if followed, will prove that America is not behind Europe in the possession of first-class musical talent.'"

ROBERT MENDUM OTIS. Born 1844.

He continued to practise medicine at Kittery, Me., till February, 1871, since when he has been practising at Cambridge. October 22, 1870, at Portsmouth, N.H., he was married to his second wife, Hannah Abbie, daughter of William and Sarah Trefethen of Kittery.

He delivered a course of six Lowell lectures at the Boston Society of Natural History in December, 1870, and again in January and February, 1872. His essay on "The Intracranial Circulation" was awarded the first prize of the Boylston Medical Society in 1867. He is also the author of other anatomical essays, which have been printed. He has been appointed instructor in comparative anatomy at Harvard University for the coming academic year.

CHARLES FISKE. Born 1845.

He writes from Buffalo, under the date of May 18, 1872, "My ill-health, which broke up my college course, and for a time threatened to break up your humble servant, has, I am thankful to say, been succeeded by a better 'general tone of system:' still I found the wear and tear of daily newspaper life, in which I was engaged for nearly four years, too much for me; and I withdrew into the business of insurance about two weeks ago, severing a very pleasant connection with the Buffalo Commercial Advertiser. As you will see by the unfilled blank, I am still a bachelor, and expect to be for some time to come. To those of my classmates who may retain a passing remembrance of the chap from Buffalo I wish you would express my kindliest wishes. It had been my intention to be present at the coming class supper; but I must, for many reasons, forego that pleasure."

JAMES MURRAY FORBES. Born 1845.

He returned to China early in the winter of 1869–70, and came back to Boston the following winter. In June, 1871, at Boston, he was married to Alice Francis, daughter of the late Nathaniel Ingersoll Bowditch. He is living in Milton, Mass.

No reply was received to the circular sent him.

CHARLES BATES TOWER. Born 1842.

He still has charge of the Park Latin School in Boston, and is living in Cambridge.

FREDERIC TUDOR. Born 1845.

He writes, "Having been duly graduated from the class of '67, I do not think that I ought to allow myself to encumber the records of '66 with my uninteresting history. I will, however, subscribe to the class supper, and endeavor to be present."

SAMUEL HENDERSON VIRGIN. Born 1844.

He continued to preach at Somerville, Mass., till March, 1871, but the following July removed to New York City, where he has since lived. April 18, 1872, he was installed pastor of the Harlem Congregational Church, New York City. He has a daughter, Mabel H., born October 30, 1871. He writes, "The fact that I spent Junior and Senior years in teaching, instead of with the class, made me feel that the class belonged to me more than that I belonged to it. I have attended no meeting, partly perhaps on this account; but my interest is getting the better of my modesty, and I hope to appear before a plate at Smith's."

THOMAS WREN WARD. Born 1844.

No response to the circular was received from him. He, however, generously answered an invitation to contribute to the "Harvard College Fund." In May, 1872, he was married to Sophia Read Howard, of Baltimore. He is still in business in New York City.

THEODORE MURRAY WATE. Born 1845.

37.

The bachelors among us may take courage by noticing that the matrimonial fever seems to have reached its height in 1869 and 1870, and now to be abating; the number of marriages in '66 having been 2; in '67, 4; in '68, 6; in '69, 9; in '70, 9; in '71, only 5. And there is yet no reason for their feeling lonely, as 66, (O magic number!), still remain unmarried (and unmarred).

27, — 15 Girls, 12 Boys.

This disproportion of the sexes may, perhaps, be accounted for by what the father of one of the daughters calls "the prevailing atmospheric miasma of Massachusetts," as nine of the girls and only four of the boys were born in that State.

CLASS FUND.

The following have contributed to the Class Fund: Abbott, Abercrombie, Bangs, Batchelor, Bent, Blair, Blake, Boutwell, Brewer, Brigham, Bright, Brown, Buswell, Capen, Case, Chace, J. Clark, T. M. Clark, Coppenhagen, Curtis, Dabney, Danforth, Derby, Dixon, Drone, Emerson, Farlow, Farnham, Fenno, Fiske, Gale, Gray, E. D. Greenleaf, R. C. Greenleaf, Gregg, Harris, Haskins, Hawes, Hayes, Jones, Kettell, A. M. Leonard, O. L. Leonard, Littlefield, Longstreth, Longworth, Loud, Lovering, McBurney, McKim, Mason, Mayer, Murdock, Nelson, Osgood, J. O. Parker, Peabody, Peirce, Perkins, Perry, Putnam, Robinson, Rolfe, Shaw, Skillings, Stackpole, F. R. Stoddard, W. P. Stoddard, Storey, Stratton, Underwood, Vinton, Watson, Welles, Wheeler, Whittemore, Wilkinson, Williams, E. W. Wright, F. Wright, T. F. Wright, Brinckerhoff, Sargent, Smith, Tower. — 85.

Of the small number who have not yet contributed, a few have not done so for the very good reason, that they have no interest in the Class nor in the objects of the fund; of the remainder, all but about half a dozen have promised to contribute, and will undoubtedly make their promise good.

The Fund is invested in one one-thousand-dollar mortgage-bond of the Leavenworth, Lawrence, and Galveston Railroad, paying ten per cent per annum, and in ten shares of the common stock, (par $100), of the Ogdensburg and Lake Champlain Railroad, paying a semi-annual dividend of three and a half per cent. The par value of the above securities is $2,000, their market-value about $1,830, and their annual income is $170.

In July, 1869, Farlow gave the present Secretary charge of the moneys of the class; and the following is a condensed account of the same since that date: —

COLLEGE FUND.

This fund, more properly known as the Harvard College Class Subscription Fund, as will be remembered, was set on foot in 1869, for the purpose of providing the University with a fund, the income of which could be used, at the discretion of the University government, for any purpose, except the erection and repairs of buildings. By the terms of subscription, it was to be held by Messrs. William Gray, A. A. Lawrence, and H. S. Russell, as Trustees; and, as often as it reached $50,000, was to be paid over to the Treasurer of the University.

At Commencement time, 1870, the first $50,000 was thus paid; and Mr. Gray now holds about $30,000 towards the second $50,000.

Since this Class Subscription was opened, large benefactions have been made, from other sources, to the University. But they have for the most part been devoted to special objects; and the increased expenses, incident to the increased numbers and improved methods of the institution, have far outstripped these donations; so that there are still pressing needs to be supplied.

The salary of the Professor of Political Economy is not yet provided for; and President Eliot has frankly avowed his reliance, for this purpose, upon the fund we are raising.

A Professor of German is much needed. The Committee for examining the undergraduates report the need of more instructors in the English Department. The Library is exceedingly ill-provided with new books in all but a few favored departments, and loudly calls for aid. Under these circumstances, let the members of our class contribute, according to their means, for the enlargement of the Class Subscription Fund, — almost the only recent fund which is given with no restriction, except that its income shall be applied wherever the need is most pressing. And when we reflect that half of our education at Cambridge was given us by our University, we surely cannot but rejoice at an opportunity to repay some small portion of our indebtedness. Our class has subscribed to the fund about $5,000, and has already contributed $2,060. The list of the contributors is as follows, the contributions varying from $5 to $500: Bent, Blaikie, Blake, Brewer, Curtis, Danforth, Emerson, Farlow, Fenno, Flagg, Gray, E. D. Greenleaf, Hayes, Kettell, Longstreth, McBurney, Murdock, Peabody, Perkins, Perry, Putnam, Skillings, Storey, Stratton, Thorndike, Wheeler, Wilkinson, Williams, E. W. Wright, F. Wright, T. F. Wright, Arnold, Smith, Ward, — thirty-four only: so that there's plenty of room for more of you, classmates, to emulate the liberality of the three contributors who are not alumni, and on whom, consequently, the college has a much weaker claim. Contributions, which may be made in yearly payments, are received by W. P. Blake, 10 R. R. Exchange, Boston, and by C. E. Stratton, 27 Tremont Row, Boston.
